Subject: EID Copyright permission

Hello,

I published an article in EID in 2011 (Emerg Infect Dis. Nov 2011; 17(11): 2047–2049) and would like to request permission to reuse the manuscript for my PhD dissertation. I read on the EID website that "all materials published in Emerging Infectious Diseases are in the public domain and can be used without permission", but the Graduate School at my university wanted me to contact the journal to just confirm that nothing else needs to be done other than appropriate citations before they will accept my dissertation.

Thank you for your help.

Best,
Caitlin Cossaboom

Please note that as stated in the copyright form signed by the article's corresponding author, authors in ASM journals retain the right to republish discrete portions of his/her article in any other publication (including print, CD-ROM, and other electronic formats) of which he or she is author or editor, provided that proper credit is given to the original ASM publication. ASM authors also retain the right to reuse the full article in his/her dissertation or thesis. For more information, please see the Instructions for Authors section on copyright (http://jvi.asm.org/site/misc/journalika_art-sh.html#56).

ASM no longer generates licensing agreements for this sort of permission request through RightsLink due to the fees that RightsLink has levied on publishers for free permissions licenses. The language in the copyright form, in the Statement of Author Rights, and in the Instructions to Authors should be sufficient permission for authors to confidently reuse their work in the above mentioned formats.

Please contact us if you have any questions.

Best regards.

Subject: JVI Copyright permission

Hello,

I writing to request permission to use a Genome Announcement article that I published in JVI in my PhD dissertation. I could not find a link to Rightslink on the online view of the article, so I was hoping that you would be able to direct me on how to go about formally requesting permission to be able to include the paper in my dissertation.

Here is the information on the publication: J. Virol. December 2012 vol. 86no. 23 13124-13125

Thank you for your help.

Best regards,
