Figure 9
More power to the people: A typical point-and-shoot 35mm camera from Ricoh.

Figure 10
Fuji microlab processor: Unlike festoon-type units, track/roller processors could be operated entirely in daylight and processed film continuously. Smaller and easier to use, they arrived in storefronts and, eventually, department stores.
From Fuji advertisement in Photo Lab Management 19:5 (May 1997), p. 7