CONCLUSION

I believe the idea of layering has great potential in the search of new idea of form and space in architecture.

I hope this study of stacking which is one of the important ideas in layering will open new investigation to the idea of layering in architecture.

Even though the idea of stacking is been used since a long time ago, with the new technology that we have now, it will give an opportunity for new invention in architecture.