Figure 1: Habermas’s conception of the capitalist socio-political organization
Figure 2: Illustration of the Proposed Relationship Between Variables in this Study
Figure 3: Mean Perceptions of the National Economy by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables, 1980-2000 (N=10791)
Figure 4: Mean Affect Toward President by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables, 1980-2000 (N=10791)
Figure 5: Mean Trust in the Federal Government by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables, 1980-2000 (N=10791)
Figure 6: Mean Trust in the Federal Government by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables and Perceptions of the Economy, 1980-2000 (N=10791)
Figure 7: Mean Trust in the Federal Government by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables and Affect Toward the President, 1980-2000 (N=10791)
Figure 8: Mean Trust in the Federal Government by Party Identification and Incumbent President’s Party With Controls for Social Demographic Variables, Perceptions of the Economy, Affect Toward the President, 1980-2000 (N=10791)