The river will form a new water feature, leading to the complex and providing a new water feature for the city. The river will flow into the building, both passively and actively, intentionally at either end of the complex. This way the river is forced to walk from one side to the other, giving the opportunity to experience the surrounding park at a slower pace. And mostly, at the front of the complex, the complex will deliver them and create a delightful way to their stays.