SCHOOL BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP: A CASE STUDY
OF AN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PARTNERSHIP
TO DETERMINE FACTORS FOR SUCCESS

by

Barbara Carstarphen Holley

Dissertation submitted to the Faculty of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

Doctor of Education in Educational Administration

Approved by

__________________   _____________________
Joan L. Curcio, Co-chair

__________________   _____________________
Steve R. Parson, Co-chair   James L. Hoerner

__________________   _____________________
Marilyn Lichtman   Susan Browning

April, 1998

Blacksburg, VA

Keywords: School-Business Partnerships, Elemetary School Partnerships, Partnerships, School-Community Linkages, Partnership Success Factors
SCHOOL/BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP: A CASE STUDY OF AN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PARTNERSHIP TO DETERMINE FACTORS FOR SUCCESS

by

Barbara Carstarphen Holley

Committee Co-Chairs:
Joan L. Curcio, Educational Administration
Steve R. Parson, Educational Administration

(ABSTRACT)

School/business partnerships have become prevalent in our society. There is, however, limited research on why some partnerships at the elementary school level are successful while others are not. This study examined one elementary school’s program which was deemed successful to determine how school/business partnerships work in an elementary school. The factors that make an elementary school/business partnership successful were identified. The study also examined the source of leadership in the selected partnership program to determine how the leadership impacted the effectiveness of the program. For the purposes of this study, a successful partnership was one in which the school and business had worked together for at least three years and had documented improvement in student achievement during the partnership years.

This school was selected based on the longevity of the partnership and the positive impact the collaborative effort between the school and business has had on the school’s program.

An in-depth case study was conducted in the elementary school to determine why the program worked. Participants were interviewed through qualitative inquiry to gather the factors that led to the successful implementation of the school/business partnership program. Prior to studying the school’s program, a review of the literature was conducted to compare the literature-based success factors to the factors determined in this study. The informants identified several factors that contributed to the success of the partnership. They were: (1) Having a strong steering committee that met on a regular basis; (2) Communicating consistently with group members and encouraging members to express themselves openly; (3) Having the principal actively participate in the partnership; (4) Securing adequate human and financial resources; (5) Gaining support from top level leadership in the business; (6) Providing opportunities for volunteers to work directly with the students; (7) Having the partnership well organized and structured for efficiency; (8) Obtaining committed and dedicated people in both the school and the business; (9) Sharing a vision with identified goals; (10) Giving recognition to volunteers, school staff and the corporation; (11) Evaluating the partnership on a regular basis. There was congruency between success factors from the informants and the success factors identified in the literature.
Acknowledgments

I would like to extend a heart felt thank you to all of my family, friends and colleagues who inspired me and supported me throughout my journey toward this end.

My appreciation goes to the elementary school staff and business volunteers who gave of their time willingly to participate in this study. A special thank you to the principal, Linda Goldberg, an outstanding administrator who opened her school and her heart to work with me on this project. I also extend my thanks to Donna Caudill, the Director of Business/Industry Relations and Barbara Butler of Freddie Mac for their cooperation and assistance.

A very special commendation goes to my committee members who worked with me and encouraged me to help make this study possible. My gratitude is extended to Dr. Curcio, our co-hort den Mother, and to Dr. Parson, my co-chairs for their guidance, continuous assistance and thought provoking questions; to Dr. Lichtman, and to Dr. Hoerner for their expertise. Thank you to my good friend Dr. Browning for her support and encouragement. I am truly appreciative of all of your efforts.

To my friends Yvonne Jukes, Sally and Henry Bailey, and especially Sheri Brown, I am grateful for all the little things you did to help me in this process.
Dedication

This dissertation is dedicated to my wonderful family!

To my father, H.T. Carstarphen, posthumously and my mother, Gertrude Carstarphen, who inspired in me a love of learning.
To my mother-in-law, Delores Holley, my aunts, Lillie Middlebrooks and Gladys King, my brother, Hezekiah Carstarphen, my brother-in-law, Elton Holley, my daughter-in-law, Tylea Holley, and To my daughter, Elesha Marvrommatis,
I am truly grateful for your kind words of support and your prayers.
To my husband, Howard M. Holley, the wind beneath my wings,
I am grateful for your belief in me and your love.
Thank you all!
Table of Contents

Abstract

Acknowledgment ........................................................................................................ iii

Dedication ................................................................................................................ iv

Chapters:
1 INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY ................................................................. 1
    Statement of the Problem ............................................................................... 2
    Purpose of the Study .................................................................................... 2
    Research Questions ....................................................................................... 2
    Significance of Study ..................................................................................... 3
    Definition of Terms ....................................................................................... 4
    Assumptions .................................................................................................... 4
    Limitations of the Study ................................................................................. 4
    Organization of the Study ............................................................................. 4

2 LITERATURE REVIEW ...................................................................................... 5
    Organization of Chapter Two ......................................................................... 5
    The School/Business Partnership Movement ................................................ 5
    Elementary School/Business Partnerships ..................................................... 8
    Review of Research on School/Business Partnerships ................................... 9
        Lacey 1983 .................................................................................................. 10
        Kalish 1987 ............................................................................................... 10
        Anthony 1992 ........................................................................................... 11
        Grobe 1993 ............................................................................................... 12
        Mattessich and Monsey 1992 ................................................................. 13
        Tushnet 1993 ........................................................................................... 14
        Paugh 1995 ............................................................................................... 15
        Hopkins 1995 ........................................................................................... 16
        Dansberger, Bodinger-Deuirate, and Clark 1996 ..................................... 16
    Emerging Themes from the Literature ......................................................... 17
        Top-level Leadership and Support ........................................................... 17
        Shared Vision/Goals ................................................................................. 17
        Adequate Human and Financial Resources ............................................. 18
        Mutually Beneficial ................................................................................... 18
        Meaningful Projects .................................................................................. 18
        Effective Communication .......................................................................... 18
        Organizational Structure/Processes ....................................................... 18
        Strategic Planning/Evaluation .................................................................. 19
        Broad/Growing Involvement .................................................................... 19
    Summary ........................................................................................................... 20
List of Tables

Table 1: Years of Experience with Partnerships .................................................. 32

Table 2: Question: Who initiated the partnership? ............................................. 37

Table 3: Question: Is there something specific you can to point that is a direct result of the partnership? ................................................................. 40

Table 4: Question: What is the partnership doing for the children or in what ways are children better off as a result of partnerships? ......................... 42

Table 5: What are factors for a successful partnership? ..................................... 48

Table 6: Success Related to Literature ............................................................... 56