“Where the kinship is, and what it consists of, are questions that are not easy to express in words, either. It also consists of contradictions and disparities, of jumps in perception and insight, which are expressed by intuition, not by logic.

Pictures precede words, - they simply are, containing meanings and experiences which are potential words/ perceptions.

The slow movement towards a perception of identity and existence consists of picture upon picture followed by yet other pictures.”

Per Hovdenakk